Dear Sir/Madam,

You might have been aware that The Young Librarians Association has started an annual journal titled "Journal of The Young Librarians Association" from the year 2008, and its 3 Vols. has already been published. The scope of the journal broadly covers all disciplines of Library and Information Science. The Papers of interdisciplinary nature are most welcome.

You are a distinguished scholar. It is our privilege to invite you to contribute a paper for the forthcoming issue (Vol. 4, 2011) of the journal. We shall appreciate it very much if you could send the paper along with an abstract by the end of November 2011. For your convenience a general guideline is enclosed.

In order to enable us for faster production, it will be appreciated if your paper is sent by email and by CD/ as well as a hard copy also. Papers should not have been published before nor be currently under consideration by other journals. Author must submit a duly signed declaration, and to confirm that their article is original, accurate and does not include any libelous statements.

Looking forward to hearing a positive response from you.

With regards,

Sincerely yours,

(Mohammad Rehan)

Sub-Editor & President YLA

Instructions to contributors

General guidelines:

Manuscripts submitted must be in English or Hindi. The quality of the language must meet the standards of the international community. The paper should not exceed 15 typewritten pages (A4) double-spaced with wide margins. Also provide the text in electronic form using any exchange standard like RTF or HTML in double spacing; the program will then convert the file. Papers should not have been published before nor be currently under consideration by other journals. Author must submit a duly signed declaration, and to confirm that their article is original, accurate and does not include any libelous statements. The editorial board will not be held responsible for the opinions expressed by the author(s). For faster production, an author may send the paper in a CD and or as an attachment of email, in addition to hardcopy.
